Cuticura
BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS.
CUTICURA REMEDIES for the Treatment of Blood and Skin and Scalp Humors When of Scrofulous Cancerous or Syphilitic origin the Cuticura Resolvent is the principal remedy and at the same time Ulcers Sores or other External Affections then the Cuticura assisted by the Cuticura Soap must be used externally If the disease is of the skin and scalp the principal remedy will then be the Cuticura with the Cuticura Soap, and such use of the Resolvent as is suggested by the following conditions In all Skin and Scalp Diseases, when the skin is hot and dry the blood fever [illegible] torpid the bowels constipated or when the virus of Scrofula or poison of mercury [illegible] known to lurk in the system or when the Constitution has been shattered by Malarial and Antifebrile Fever [illegible] Debilitating Diseases always take the Resolvent while using the Cuticura A cure thus made will be permanent and satisfactory

ECZEMA RODENT
The Cuticura Remedies succeed where [illegible] fail
Messrs WEEKS & POTTER Gentlemen —I have suffered over [illegible] years with skin disease on my hands [illegible] causing constant irritation depriving me of rest and attention to business
I sought many remedies here and elsewhere, also use of sulphur baths without permanent cure
Last May a physician called my disease Eczema Rodent —spots appeared on my hands and face eyes became much inflamed and granulated causing at length impaired sight
Internal and external remedies were prescribed by a leading physician for six months whe[illegible] introduced to another, and a consultation of several leading physicians was had when a definite plan was decided upon but all to no purpose
After following advice for four months without any permanent cure I bought two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, two boxes of Cuticura and some Soap and can testify with great pleasure to the effect they have had in my case in eight days being nearly cured
The physicians pronounced my case the most aggravated one that has ever come under their experience and practice
I recommend and highly indorse the Cuticura Remedies Yours truly

SALT RHEUM
On Face Head, and Parts of Body Healed covered with Scabs and Sores
Messrs Weeks & Potter —I commenced to use your Cuticura last July Have only used one large and one small box, and one bottle of the Resolvent. My face and head and some parts of my body were almost raw My head was covered with scabs and sores, and my suffering was fearful
I had tried everything I had heard of in the East and West My case was considered a very bad one One very skilful physician said he would rather not treat it, and some of them think [illegible] I am only cured temporarily I think not for I have not a particle of Salt Rheum about me, and my case is considered wonderful My case has been the means of selling a great many of your CUTICURA REMEDIES in this part of the country
Respectfully yours,
MRS S. F WHIPPLE

HINTS
On Sick Headache,
Nervous Headache,
Neuralgia,
Nervousness and Sleeplessness.
THEIR CAUSE AND CURE.
BY C. W. BENSON, M. D.

Headaches of all kinds are nervous whether called sick nervous or constitutional head che and depend upon one cause—nervous depravity or poverty When the patient is very nervous, it is called Nervous Headache when dyspeptic, it is termed Sick Headache, when billious it is termed Billious Headache and so on Excitement over exertion, hot sun or bright light are all exciting causes of headache but the real cause is in the nervous system itself Only those whose nervous system is in a depraved condition suffer, while all others whose nervous system is in a normal state although exposed to the same exciting causes escape. Now why do my Pills cure these diseases? Simply because they act directly upon the digestive organs and the nervous system, they are nerve food and soon put the nervous system into a normal state and thereby remove the cause of these and all other nervous diseases. Their effect is upon the fountain head, and their cure is permanent They can no more fail to nourish the nervous system than bread and meat can the general system Therefore we are sure certain when they are properly used They are not purgative but relieve constipation by curing indigestion the cause of it

Celery has only come into public notice within the last few years as a nervine [illegible] scientific experiments and experience have proved beyond a doubt that it controls nervous irritation and periodic nervous and sick headache to a marked degree

But a combination of the EXTRACT OF CELERY AND CHAMOMILE, which has been but recently introduced to the profession and the public by myself, has produced such marvellous results in curing nervousness and headaches and especially nervous and sick headaches neuralgia and sleeplessness, that it has excited public attention and newspaper comments and therefore I give the following information to the public to avoid answering hundreds of letters of inquiry about them

My Pills for the cure of headaches and nervousness are prepared under my supervision and are intended expressly to cure headaches neuralgia, sleeplessness and nervousness and will cure any case where no organic disease of the brain or spinal cord exists Hundreds of cases of many years standing have been cured No matter how chronic or obstinate the case may be a permanent cure is morally certain This statement is made after years of experience in their use in the general practice of medicine

These pills are also valuable for school children who suffer from nervous headache caused by an overworked brain in their studies and for all classes of hard brainworkers, whose overtaxed nervous centres need repair and relaxation Nervous tremor weakness and paralysis are being daily cured by these pills They correct costiveness but are not purgative

Directions on each box Price 50 cents or six boxes for $2 50 postage free to any address, or may be ordered through any druggist No order filled unless accompanied by the money, or letter answered that does not contain a 3 cent stamp Depot No 106 North Eutaw street, Baltimore Md Boston office No 6 Hamilton place room [illegible]

INTENTIONS PLAINLY MANIFESTED

While the great majority of the public are utterly unwilling to believe that so monstrous a project as the "counting out" of a clear majority of seven Republican Senators and thirty Republican Representatives can be seriously entertained, and while individual Democrats of more or less prominence are reported to be shocked by the suggestion of such villainy, it is proper to notice that the newspaper organs of the Democratic party continue to plainly indicate their desire for and expectation of the perpetration of high handed fraud.

The Portland Argus, of Saturday, has an editorial in which it repeatedly lays significant stress upon the declaration that the Governor and Council will be governed by "the law and the precedents" in "the issuing or withholding of certificates of election." The plain meaning of its article is that Governor Garcelon and his Council shall use any "precedents" that can be found in past dealing with individual cases as pretexts upon which to reverse the whole results of a State election to instal a false majority in control of the Legislature and secure a fraudulent election of Governor by legislative bodies fraudulently "counted in." That is the plain English of the utterances of the paper that claims to be the leading organ of the Democracy in this State.

It is a shameless proposal that the Governor and Council now in office shall usurp the power of reversing the result of the State election by the gigantic fraud of "counting out" a Republican joint majority of no less than thirty seven members of the Legislature.

The pretense that any action under Republican administrations can be found to justify so monstrous a political crime is too contemptibly dishonest to be discussed. The Argus proposition, which is but an echo of Pillsbury's Standard, is a deliberate order to Governor Garcelon to emulate the villainy of Boss Tweed in the palmy days of Tammany corruption. So gross an insult to the integrity of an Executive was never before offered by an organ of his own party in Maine.

THE NEW YORK VICTORY

The victory in New York grows better and better as the returns come in. The Tribune of Saturday claims that three of the Republican candidates on the State ticket beside Mr Cornell are positively elected, that two others are probably elected, and that the whole ticket may prove to be chosen. It says the returns received with careful estimates for those yet to come, give Hoskins Republican some 1,400 plurality over Potter, Democrat for Lieutenant Governor, Hamilton Ward Rep for Attorney General more than 9 000 plurality, Wadsworth Rep, for Controller over 8 000; Gen Carr, for Secretary of State 4 000. The returns for Treasurer are incomplete, but there is no reason to doubt that Mr Wendell has been elected.

A CHANGE OF TUNE

From the time that the election of a fusion majority in the Legislature a year ago was assured, until the final adjournment of that absurd and mischievous body, the Bangor Commercial clamored for cutting down expenses without regard to any public interest and applauded every reduction that crippled some function of the Government. It championed the assault upon our schools the reckless cutting down of salaries and had no word of protest against the attack upon the Judiciary itself. It claimed that every other interest and all other considerations should be secondary to the decrease of expenses—because the opposition wanted to go to the people as the champions of economy and get a favorable verdict, before the injury of such reckless cutting and slashing could be demonstrated.

Now the tune is changed and under the stimulus of the terrible murder just committed in our vicinity the Commercial complains "that our laws for the apprehension and conviction of criminals especially of those guilty of the crime of murder are inadequate and defective" and the "officers of the law left with no legalized mode of procedure or if given this, left with no means to cover the cost of such procedure." It specifies and condems the repeal last winter of the provision for detecting crime and citing the enactment in its stead that the Attorney General shall receive "One thousand dollars per annum in full for all services, expenses and travel," it asks "Is it any wonder then that murderers stand good chances of escape? Town officers cannot offer rewards without authority from the towns and the Attorney General is shorn of all power to make a thorough investigation, or to employ expert skill unless unlike other people, he is willing to work for nothing. One thousand dollars a year in full for all services, expenses and travel!"

That does not sound much like the Commercial that was lately so vociferously applauding the economy of the fusion Legislature. Nor does it sound at all familiar when our neighbor now exclaims "what is money when human life is in the balance and when the money is to be used for the detection of murderers and for the protection of society?" We conclude 1st that Mr Bass must still be out of town, and 2d, that our neighbor has found out that there is such a thing as penny wisdom that is pound folly in legislation and politics. Now will our neighbor tell us what it thinks of last winter's raid on the Judiciary?

A correspondent asks us if the Commercial folks will not change its rooster the other side up, and allow us the privilege of claiming New York Republican for 1880 as they claimed it for the Democrats when they thought the majority there was Democratic.

Rev Matthew Hale Smith, who died in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday, of pneumonia, in his 63d year, was well known as the author of various works, but best known in New England as "Burleigh," the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal. He was an ardent Republican and it was while making speeches on the stump that he contracted the illness which cost him his life.

The Tribune of Saturday reported Senator Conkling in New York city, on his way to Washington but quite ill. It says: "His friends do not express any alarm, but are nevertheless a good deal surprised at finding him worse than they expected."

THE FRIGHTFUL FREQUENCY OF MURDER

It would indeed be a stolid community that should not be startled by the commission of such a brutally horrible murder as that of the late Mr. Norris at Bradley on Friday night, even if the crime stood alone in its horror. But when no less than three awful butcheries—the Elliot murder on Valley Avenue, the Gowen murder at Oldtown and the Bradley horror of Friday night—have occurred in our immediate neighborhood within a few months, it is not strange that the communities feel an alarm unusual in this section of the land. That there is something inadequate in our provisions for preventing, detecting or punishing the crime of murder, is not only indicated by our local experience but in the State at large the prevalence of such crime seems to have startlingly increased during the past few years.

It is certainly time to consider this matter seriously and without prejudice as to theories. The protection of the lives of the people is the first consideration, and whatever will tend to render human life more sacred should command public approval. Whether the abolition of capital punishment is primarily or largely accountable for the terrible catalogue of capital crime committed since the change in the law, is a question that will arouse argument on either side. At any rate it seems to us that the present law has been in force long enough to have had a fair trial and that a discussion of its influence and effects is legitimate. We know that many who favored the abolition of capital punishment have come to doubt the wisdom of the repeal and in view of the terrible crimes that are multiplying in our State, it seems to be our duty to seek to ascertain whether there is any radical defect in our dealing therewith. One lesson is certainly brought home to us and that is that the things we can least afford are the reduction of our scanty police establishments and the crippling of our courts of justice.

THAT HISTORIC DESPATCH

[From the Concord Monitor]

We notice that our highly esteemed contemporary THE BANGOR WHIG closes a very just and eloquent tribute to the late Senator Chandler by crediting him with the authorship of the telegram on the morning after the last Presidential election which announced the fact that Hayes had 185 electoral votes and was elected. This is a mistake. William E Chandler the Secretary of the Committee, was the author of that despatch. It occurred in this wise. He (W E Chandler) had cast his ballot for President in this city and then taken the cars for New York, arriving at the headquarters in the Fifth Avenue Hotel about 4 30 next morning. He found the rooms nearly deserted, Senator Chandler and his assistants having retired in the belief that they were beaten. Mr W E Chandler went over the despatches and figures carefully along with Mr Reed, managing editor of the N Y Times who had not conceded Tilden's election and the result was the transmission of that famous telegram to which Senator Chandler's name was appended. Other telegrams were sent to Louisiana, Florida, Oregon and other places by W E Chandler in quick succession, and while the Senator was sleeping. The latter was called up soon after and apprised of what had been done. He saw in a glance the wisdom of the action taken and gave it his hearty endorsement. Thus was fraud circumvented and the right brought uppermost.

BLAINE OF MAINE

The enthusiasm which Senator Blaine's presence excited in Boston, Lynn, and Salem, surprised even the Senator himself who is used to such things. The crowds were immense, and the welcome of the heartiest sort. Massachusetts would not feel badly if BLAINE OF MAINE as he was advertised, should be the coming man. He would call out that Republican reserve of 40,000, which ought to have come out Tuesday.—Nashua N H Telegraph

A newspaper correspondent of the kind described by Edgar A Poe as the genus Jackass, says there is great enthusiasm in Concord for Gen Grant which is true but it is for Gen Grant as a man, a citizen and a patriot and not as a Presidential candidate for a third term unless indeed it shall become apparent that his candidacy will alone ensure the defeat of the enemies of good government—a contingency made almost if not wholly, improbable by the result of the recent elections. The first choice for President of the great mass of the Republicans of New Hampshire is JAMES G BLAINE, and in due time this will be made to appear.—Concord Monitor

MAINE RESPONSES TO THE GLOBE COMMISSIONER. The parties charged by the Globe Commissioner in Maine with buying votes have begun to make responses to the statements of that party. Mr Martin of Baring makes affidavit that all of the allegations made by the Globe Commissioner respecting him are false, and that he never told him that money was paid for votes or anything of the kind. Mr Farrar of Princeton who gave the Globe Commissioner a statement of the money expended by him after that person had assured him that he was the agent of the Republican state Committee, also makes an affidavit denying the most of the statements made by the Globe. This written statement of expenditures was intrusted by the "Commissioner" to Mr Martin, who put it in his pocket and refused to give it up. It is now in the possession of Republicans in Calais and shows that the Globe "Commissioner," or some other person while it was in his possession, interpolated two items, which are the only ones in the Globe statement which indicate bribery. The Globe has already admitted that its correspondent practically committed forgery when he inserted a letter purporting to have been written by Mr Blaine but which was not. Now it appears by the affidavits of two men and the statement of expenditures attributed to Mr. Farrar, that the Globe "Commissioner" has been guilty of another forgery. And still the Globe devotes columns of space to the tiresome drivel of its Maine "Commissioner."—Boston Journal

The N, Y Tribune says there are already seven candidates for the seat of the late Senator Chandler, that "ex-Governor Bagley leads as the strongest, and after him stand Congressman Conger, Thomas Palmer, H. P. Baldwin, Regent Rynd, Henry Waldron and William A. Howard. Mr. Bagley was Senator Chandler's chief opponent, and is more likely to get the nomination than any of his rivals."

Now that the majorities are figured up the Democracy are in possession of some data by which they can estimate the value of extra sessions of Congress when conducted under caucus dictation for campaign purposes.—Tribune.

Within the seven weeks that he has been the chief executive officer of Kentucky Gov. "Yellow Fever" Blackburn has pardoned about sixty convicts from the Penitentiary and remitted fines to gamblers to the amount of $60,000.

WANT TO "PLAY POSSUM" AGAIN.

The Baltimore Sun, which seeks to be an organ of the Conservative Democracy, and is greatly impressed by the popular verdict against the revolutionary spirit of the extra session, makes this statement as to the "possum" policy which the Conservative Democrats will attempt to force upon their party at the coming session.

"Advices received here from Democratic leaders of high national repute, especially from Southern public men, leave no doubt that a broadly national conservative course will be the Democratic policy the coming winter. Zealots will be made to take back seats. Passionate declaration, tropical rhetoric and sectional recrimination will be severely set down upon. Such safe and conservative leaders as Bayard, Whyte, Kernan, Randolph, Gordon, Lamar ( ) and Ransom will demonstrate that the Democracy of all sections are anxious for a cordial alignment with the national feeling, character, capital and respectability of the country. The Republicans will be furnished with no more campaign thunder in the shape of foolish utterance or excited oratory, addressed to backwoods audiences at home, rather than to the intelligence of Congress and the country. With the advantage of the handsome victory in New York ( ) and with no handicap of silly utterance from would be leaders in Congress, the best informed Democrats here claim that the party is sure of substantial and enduring victory next year."

THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

To Comrades of the Army of the Cumberland. The Committee having in charge the arrangements for the meeting of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland have addressed invitations to every comrade whose post office address is known to be present at the reunion to be held in the city on the 19th and 20th of this month, on which occasion the monument of General George H Thomas will be unveiled and presented to the Nation but as the post office address of many of our comrades is not known the committee sent through the Associated Press a cordial and earnest invitation to every comrade to meet with us and aid in paying our respects to the memory of our great commander, General Thomas.

GENERAL JAS A GARFIELD,
GENERAL THOS S YOUNG,
GENERAL MCD MCCOOK
Executive Committee
Washington Nov 6, 1879

The Commercial says that Hendrick B Wright the blue ribbon Pennsylvania demagogue and Thompson H Murch the striking communist from Maine have been in Boston taking evidence for the "Congressional Committee on the Depression of Business." It says they did not find any depression but they had no notion of being bothered by such a little thing as "the fact that the industries of the country had revived, so they went on taking the testimony of such 'business' men as Horace Binney Sargent and Wendall Phillips, and the business of the country went on booming in spite of those cloquent croakers.

The Detroit Post and Tribune of the 6th inst, devotes nearly six columns of space to a detailed account of the impressive ceremonies at the funeral of ex-Senator Chandler on the 5th. Of the public demonstration of sorrow it says

Never in the history of Detroit have the insignia of mourning been so generally displayed as yesterday. The occasion of the funeral of President Lincoln was the only one that approached it, but even then the public and private buildings of the city were not so generally draped in black as yesterday when all that was mortal of Michigan's most distinguished and best beloved citizen was carried through the streets of the city to the place assigned for all the living.

The Presidential aspirations of Randall and Hancock are overwhelmed and suffocated under a Republican majority of 50,000 in Pennsylvania.

Senator Blaine and wife and Senator Anthony of Rhode Island were at the Fifth Avenue Hotel New York on Friday, on their return from Michigan.

The World's Child-Magazine.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the most kind hearted and gentle among the foremost of American Authors writes of ST NICHOLAS "It is little to say of this magazine that it is the best child's periodical in the world." Dr Proctor the astronomer wrote from England "What a wonderful magazine it is for young folks and ours require as much lightening with it as American children can be." That it is calculated to delight the little folk everywhere is indicated by the fact that it is to be issued in French by Delagrave of Paris and that even the far away little Moslems are now to have a volume made up of translations from ST NICHOLAS into Arabic by the Rev H H Jessup.

Beginning with the November number (ready Oct 25) the magazine is to be printed on heavier paper with wider margins and is to be so much enlarged that the new volume will contain nearly two hundred more pages than any former volume while the price will remain the same. The publishers announce many brilliant novelties including a new serial by Miss Louisa M Alcott, entitled "Jack and Jill." "The Treasure Box of English Literature" in which will be given gems from standard English and American authors. An Acting Play for Sunday Schools by Rev Edward Eggleston which will be printed in time for the holidays with full directions for its representation in school exhibitions and a beautiful Fairy Operetta for children entitled "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood."

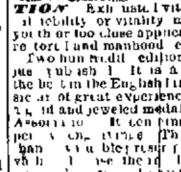

The November number has two beautiful frontispieces and a red line title page, and contains over sixty illustrations. In it, begins a new serial story for boys, "AMONG THE LAKES" by the author of "Dab Kinzer."

Another splendid serial for boys has been secured for this volume,—"The Fairport Nine," a story of a base ball club by NOAH BROOKS. In short ST NICHOLAS, which has no rival on either continent is to be better than ever.

A superb Christmas number is in preparation, to appear early in December. Subscriptions should begin with November. Buy it of your book seller or send the subscription price to the publishers. Price, $3 00 a year 25 cents a number.

DISASTER AND DEATH

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION AT KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Another Railway Smash.

STEAMER SUNK BY COLLISION.

Terrible Disaster and Loss of Life at Kansas City, Mo.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8. A terrible disaster occurred on the corner of Second and Main streets, yesterday. The extensive cracker and candy manufactory of Cole & Sons, occupying four brick three-story buildings, tumbled down, and was completely consumed by fire. At the time the accident occurred, 107 persons, mostly boys and girls, from 12 to 20 years of age, were at work in the factory, and all of whom escaped alive except seven. The cause of the accident cannot be fully determined, but it is as an explosion occurred simultaneously with the fall of the walls, it is supposed to be a repetition of the accident in New York, last year—a starch explosion. Soon as the walls fell, the building took fire and the fire department were on hand in five minutes, and the flames were soon extending to the buildings adjoining.

As soon as the news of the accident spread about the city, the parents and friends of those employed flocked to the scene. When the firemen had subdued the flames they set to work digging for the dead, and up to 10 p. m. had taken out seven bodies. The loss on the property is $7,000, insurance $20,000.

Another Railway Smash.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. The train on the Hudson River Railroad which ran into the river last night was composed of a baggage car and six passenger coaches, the latter of which were crowded with passengers. A passenger states that there were 20 to 30 passengers in the coach which went into the river and she believes that some of them perished. Nothing can be obtained in the way of information from the railroad officials. It is stated, however, that all the passengers rescued are being cared for by the Railroad Co.

The Steamship Champion Sunk by Collision.

LEWES, Del., Nov. 8. The ship Lady Octavia, from the Breakwater for New York, collided with the steamer Champion, from New York for Charleston, striking the steamer amid-ships, sinking her in five minutes. It is rumored that 25 persons were saved and 34 lost. The collision occurred 35 miles off the Capes, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The ship was badly damaged and is being towed to Philadelphia by a tug.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. The Champion was commanded by Capt. Lockwood, and left here on Thursday for Charleston. The Champion was 418 tons, built of iron at Wilmington, Del., in 1859, and belonged to the New York and Charleston Steamship Company. She had a life-saving apparatus for 163 persons, and at her official inspection Dec 26th, '78, was in good first-class condition.

The barque Lady Octavia is an old iron ship, built of the heaviest plate iron, of 1720 tons, built in England in 1851. She was from Rio for Baltimore with a cargo of coffee. She is owned in Greenock by Adams & Co.

Further Particulars—List of the Saved.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8. The ship Lady Octavia, which was in collision with the steamship Champion, has arrived. Her captain reports: At 1 A. M., on Friday; Barnegat East by North, half North, from Cape May, was ran into by the steamer Champion from New York. The Champion struck us just at the stem. The steamer was so badly damaged that she sank in four minutes. Thirty persons of her crew and passengers were lost, and 21 saved and placed on other vessels by the Octavia. The first mate of the schooner Thos. Ferguson was in charge of the deck at the time of the collision.

The Octavia brought none of those rescued to this port. The following is a list of those of the Champion's crew and passengers known to have been saved: R. W. Lockwood, captain. Chas. Miller, second mate. John Thompson, Charles [illegible], Fred. Mackman, Fred Richards and Jacob Jackson, seamen. Richard Owens, [illegible] Wesley Reeve, chief engineer. Chas. E. Bounce, 1st assistant engineer. Edward Jones, Wm. Farrell, Patrick Flynn and Luke Kelly, firemen. Alex. Rose, [illegible] passer. Isaac Hammond, chief clerk. John Foster, porter. Catharine Cross, stewardess, and George Holland and Moses Pinckney, waiters.

Four of the passengers and two of the crew were placed on board an unknown brigantine and sent to New York.

Loss of Property and Life at Various Places.

The business portion of Napoleon, Ohio, was burned Sunday afternoon. Loss $100,000.

A cyclone at Strasburg, Kas., Saturday destroyed several buildings and injured a number of people.

A span of the bridge over the St. Charles Mo., river fell Saturday, and a freight train was wrecked killing three men.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The Russian government is contemplating a new tax upon the dividends payable on bonds and other securities.

The loss in the champagne district of France by the failure of the vintage is estimated at 3,000,000 francs.

It is expected that English influence in Constantinople will be used to introduce financial reforms which would facilitate other promised reforms.

The whereabouts of Philipart, the deaulting Chairman of the Banque Europeène, are still unknown.

A telegram from Vienna states that Chambord has despatched Count de Blancos on a mission to England.

The Politische Correspondenz announces that a pour parlers is proceeding between the government at London and St. Petersburg to fix upon a modus vivendi regarding affairs in Central Asia.

A St. Petersburg letter to the Abend Post says: If the new British Parliament sustains Beaconsfield's policy Russia will occupy Northern Afghanistan.

The government at Madrid has received a telegram stating that two Kabyle tribes in Morocco have had a desperate conflict, during which 100 were killed on one side and 90 on the other.

The will of the late Louisiana St. John, a spinster, owning large amounts of real estate in New York and St. Louis, aggregating in value nearly $1,000,000, is to be contested. The contestants are six pieces and nephews.

The Baldwin iron mine at Ottawa, Can., will be reopened, giving employment to a large number of men. The ore has been contracted for by a Cleveland firm.

Edward Stebbins's block at Hindsdale, N. H., consisting of eight stores, was burned Friday night. Loss about $7000 on the buildings and $5000 on goods. All well insured.

Dudley H. Lewis, stage driver from Alstead, N. H., to Marlow, N. H., was almost instantly killed Saturday by the stage overturning. He was thrown off and struck on his head. He was 61 years old.

The General Assembly of Rhode Island held a special session in Providence Saturday morning, and passed an act correcting the legislation relative to a division of the wards in Providence, and adjourned.

VIRGINIA.

Result of the Election.

RICHMOND, Nov. 8. Additional returns received on the debt question show that the opponents of the McCulloch bill compromise, claim a small majority in each House. As to all other matters the two wings of Conservatives are tolerably evenly divided, 24 Republican members holding the balance of power and probably are in a position to dictate the terms. The indications are that they will plan to name the Senator in return for supporting one or the other wing as to State officers and judges.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION,

Election of the Republican Ticket

A DEMOCRATIC WAIL OF "FRAUD."

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. The Times says that the latest tables show that Cornell's plurality is 36,548; Hoskins, 269; Wadsworth's, 1010; and General Carr's 943. The vote on the remainder of the State ticket, with the exception of that for Soule, is about the same as that for Carr, thus electing about all of the Republican State ticket.

The Tribune says that Hamilton Ward, for Attorney General, has a majority of more than 9,000; Mr. Wadsworth, for Controller, a majority of more than 8,000 Geo. Carr, for Secretary of State, one of 4,500, and Mr. Hoskins, for Lieut. Governor, one somewhere about 1400. Wendell, for Treasurer, is not behind the others, all Republicans. These figures are from additional returns received last night from counties previously not given.

Being Beaten They Begin to Croak.

ALBANY, Nov. 8. Owing to a belief here that the delay in counting the election returns in the various western counties of the State is simply for that of doctoring the returns to elect Republicans most of the Democratic State nominees have, it is understood, joined in a despatch to personal friends in each county asking their personal attendance at the counting of the votes by the board of Supervisors of the counties. The gentlemen sent are to include Dewitt C. West, Judge Henderson of Chautauqua, David Gray, Buffalo, Senator Haines, Rochester, E. M. Holbrook, Ogdensburg, Stephen P. Arnot, Chemung and others. It is believed by the State officials that the supervision by such gentlemen as these may prevent any miscounting.

The News says the Republicans are making desperate effort to count in the remainder of the State ticket, and that Conkling was telegraphed for by the State Committee who has arrived as also have Blaine and Devens.

The Boston Journal's Figures.

BOSTON, Nov. 8. The Journal's table of returns on the N. Y. State ticket this evening, elects Potter by 73 majority, but it feels hopeful for Hoskins and is sure of the election of the others' on the Republican ticket.

The Albany Express' Figures.

ALBANY, Nov. 8. The Express, Republican, to-night makes Hoskin's apparent majority 427. The Argus, Democrat, will have nothing on the subject of the election in its Sunday edition.

The Sun's Claims and Concessions.

The Sun this morning has revised returns from many counties in the State, but says, it has been impossible to get exact figures from several counties and an official canvass may change the general result by several hundred.

The figures given elect Potter, Democrat Leut. Governor by 2931 majority; Mackin, Democrat, Treasurer, by 1202 majority; Horatio Seymour, Jr., Democrat, Engineer and Surveyor, by 9759 majority; Carr, Republican Secretary of State by 673 majority; Ward, Republican, Attorney General by 3645 majority; and Wadsworth Republican, Controller, by 3085 majority.

From the closeness of some results an official canvass alone can determine who are elected.

NEW YORK CITY.

Death of Matthew Hale Smith.

Financial Matters.

LONDON, Nov. 8. The Times' financial article says that money continues in large supply on short loan, but the discount rates are still unsettled. More gold has been withdrawn from the bank for New York. This was expected, and probably there will be further withdrawls. If they continue the bank will have to supplement its action of Thursday by absorbing the surplus supply of money in the open market, and as on former occasions force the outer rate up nearer to its own minimum, and thus try to make the shipments unprofitable.

The Labor Question.

The short-time labor movement in the Oldham cotton mills, which has lasted eight weeks, shows signs of breaking up. A meeting of mill owners is to be held to-night at which it is extremely probable that they will formally sanction the abandonment of the short-time system. Many companies have already prepared for the change. The results of the experiment, however, are regarded as satisfactory.

MEETING AT ORONO. The Crusade, assisted by the Reform Club held a very interesting meeting at the Town Hall in Orono, Thursday evening last. The large audience assembled expressed their entire satisfaction, and many signatures were added to the pledge. The zeal and earnestness of these temperance workers meet with good success and wherever they hold meetings the reformation is sure to go on.

WINDOW FASTENER. Notice is given elsewhere that Mr. B. E. Walker is the sole agent for the Burglar Proof Window Fastener, which, it is claimed, is a sure protection against sneak thieves. This is a simple catch placed on the regular window fastener, which prevents it from being turned from the outside, by the insertion of a knife-blade between the two sashes. It is inexpensive and all orders should be left at Duren's bookstore.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT. An old lady by the name of Mrs. Russell met with a serious accident yesterday. She had just come from the St. John's Catholic church, at the close of the morning service, and was crossing the street, when the wheels of a passing carriage knocked her down and went over her. She was taken into a house near by where she was attended by a physician, who found that she was severely bruised, but was unable to determine the extent of her injuries at the time. The young men who were in the team secured the physician and then sent a back to take the lady home. We understand that the friends of the injured lady do not hold the young men responsible for the accident.

STOLEN TEAM RECOVERED. The stolen team advertised in the WHIG Saturday was recovered that afternoon by Officer Allen. The owners, Messrs. Hardy & Bridges, of St. Stephen, telegraphed to Marshal Reed the middle of the week to be on the lookout for this team, and be informed the members of the force. Friday, Officer Allen found a man from Amherst who said he saw the team in that place Wednesday, and the next day he met the man who was driving it on that occasion, walking this side of East Eddington. Officer Allen rode out to East Eddington Saturday and found the team at the stable of Joel Ford, where it had been left by the man, who said he would return for it in a few days. The fellow got his supper, lodging and breakfast at Ford's, and then went away with the promise to pay the entire bill on his return, but he forgot to come back. He was evidently more anxious to escape than he was to keep the team. The owners were informed of the recovery of the team and one of them will arrive here this evening. Officer Allen worked the case up carefully.

ARREST OF THE MURDERER AT NEWPORT.

THE EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM.

Property of the Victim Found on Him.

The inhabitants of the little town of Bradley were thrown into a terrible state of excitement, at an early hour Saturday morning, by the announcement that their highly esteemed fellow-townsman, Mr. James J. Norris, had been found brutally murdered, near the path leading from his office at the mill, to the large boarding house. The report spread rapidly and in a short time nearly every man, woman and child in the place, had learned of the fearful deed, and many hastened to the spot where the crime had been committed. It was and one that will long be remembered by those present. The body was lying some twenty feet from the regular plank path, in a pool of blood, there being three terrible wounds on the head, which was nearly severed from the body by a gash across the neck, that extended almost from ear to ear. The feeling was intense among the citizens, who, with pale faces and heavy hearts, assembled about the mutilated remains of the good man, who had endeared himself to all by his many sterling qualities, and had the perpetrator been in their power with every doubt of his guilt removed, they would surely have taken the law into their own hands and punished him then and there.

How the Deed Was Committed.

Our reporter visited the town of Bradley Saturday afternoon and learned the following particulars of this foul murder: Mr. Norris, who has been the foreman at Messrs. Cutler & Eddy's mill for ten years, or more, was in the habit of going to his office, which is quite near the mill, in the evening and remain their sometimes until late. Friday evening he took tea about five o'clock and then went out as usual, and at about quarter past nine one of the men, who was on his way to the boarding house, saw him engaged at his desk. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, who have had charge of the boarding house for five years, during which time Mr. Norris has lived with them, were in the habit of retiring before he returned from the office, leaving one of the doors unfastened, and a night lamp burning for him. On the night in question they placed the lamp in its customary position and then retired as usual. The next morning when they rang the bell in the men's apartments, they discovered that Mr. Norris's night lamp was still burning, just where they left it the night before. This naturally startled them considerably and they at once hurried to his room, the door of which was fastened, but failed to get any response to their repeated knocks. A pass key was quickly procured, but when they entered the room at once met their gaze, and told them that something terrible must have befallen Mr. Norris at the office. This was about five o'clock in the morning, the time the men are usually called, and as it was still dark Mr. Robbins took his lantern and, accompanied by one of the boarders, started out to search for the missing man. They thought they would first visit the office and were hurrying along the regular path, when they saw some thing lying on the ground, which proved to be Mr. Norris' hat, covered with blood. This caused them to fear the worst and as they moved on slowly, looking in all directions, their eyes met a second object,

THE UNTOUCHED BED

THE BODY OF THE MURDERED MAN, lying a short distance from the path, as discribed above. They were quickly followed by other inmates of the boarding house and the sad news was soon known throughout the town. Coroner Lancaster, of Oldtown, was notified and he at once visited the scene of the murder and viewed the remains. The spot where this foul deed was perpetrated was in the immediate vicinity of an old house, vacated the day before in which the murderer probably watched for his victim. He was familiar with the habits of the foreman and knew that he always carried a lantern, the light of which would assist him in his work. It is supposed that he waited until Mr. Norris had passed the house, when he sprang from his place of concealment and inflicting a fatal wound on the back of the head, at the base of the brain. This wound has the appearance of having been made by a sharp pointed instrument, like a pick, but the others indicate that terrible weapon with which three murders have already been committed in this State, within a year—an axe. Not satisfied with this first blow, however, which in itself would cause death, this fiend in human form struck two more blows, one making a fatal wound over the left eye and the other near the left ear, and then finished his bloody work by cutting his victim's throat, with the axe. An examination of the remains showed that the murderer for everything of value with the exception of an old silver watch, was removed from the person of the victim, even to a ring, which he always wore on one of his fingers. Among the other things taken was an old leather wallet which Mr. Norris had carried for years, one that Mrs. Robbins had often seen and heard him remark about its age. He was not in the habit of carrying much money with him, so at the time it was not thought that the murderer had succeeded in accomplishing his purpose in this direction. After the remains were removed to the house, at about eight o'clock in the morning, at which time the Coroner, who had empanelled a jury, held a brief hearing, it was found that all of the murdered man's keys had been taken. On visiting the mill the doors and safe were found locked and everything in order about the premises. A most thorough search failed to reveal the hiding place of the weapon with which the blows were delivered, or the missing keys, so that it was impossible to examine the contents of the safe at that time.

Who Committed this Foul Act?

This question was repeatedly asked by first one and then another of the excited assembly, but all were unable to answer it. One young man, however, by the name of John Chaplin, a marker in the mill, noticed the absence of a Frenchman named Joseph Bouleau, and knowing that he had had some difficulty at the mill the day before, which resulted in his discharge, he at once hastened to the station at West Great Works, to take the train for this city. As he entered the cars he at once saw the Frenchman in one of the seats, and noticed that the fellow seemed inclined to keep his head turned away from him. He approached and asked the loan of a knife, but the Frenchman told him that he did not have one. Chaplin communicated his fears to the train officials, and when the cars were opposite Messrs. Cutler & Eddy's office he jumped oft, but not finding either member of the firm there he hastened on to the depot. On the platform he met Mr. Cutler, who had been summoned to the mill by a despatch, and was waiting for the first train up, and to him he hurriedly related the facts of the murder, as well as his suspicions in relation to the Frenchman. Knowing that prompt action was necessary Mr. Cutler immediately sent a telegraph to Newport in the name of Marshal Reed, to arrest the Frenchman at that place, as the Maine Central train was already on its way. While telegraphing to other points along the line in order to make sure of his arrest, and waiting for answers, Marshal Reed, who is always prompt in his official capacity, arrived at the depot and informed Mr. Cutler that he had received a despatch from Deputy Sheriff Dow, of Newport, stating that the Frenchman was in custody. Mr. Reed then telegraphed the officer at Newport to bring the prisoner to this city, after which be started for Bradley, together with Officer Gordon, to learn the particulars of the affair.

The Arrival of the Prisoner.

By this time the murder was the chief topic of conversation in this city, and when it was learned that a man had been arrested on suspicion and would arrive here on the noon train, it caused great excitement. People soon began to assemble at the depot, and before the cars reached the city a large crowd was waiting on the platform. Officers Weymouth and Clark were in readiness to take the prisoner, and when he arrived in charge of Deputy Sheriff Dow he was hurried into a coach and taken to the station house. A large number of people had assembled in the yard at the jail in hopes to get a view of the prisoner, so that the officers were able to get him into the station house without being bothered by the crowd. Bouleau has and looks as though he was competent to commit almost any crime. He is a young man, between twenty-five and twenty-eight years old, short and thick set, very dark complexion, black eyes, black moustache, and hair that looks like an Indians. He has a dogged, determined look, and is inclined to be non-committal, but has unintentionally mixed matters somewhat in answering the questions put by the officers. He was dressed in a black coat and vest, Canada gray pants and had on boots with rubbers over them. These clothes were at once removed from him in the station house, and he was supplied with a new suit, while the officers began a rigid examination to see if they could discover any

on his garments. It did not require much time, for stains, undoubtedly those made by blood, were found on the coat, vest, pants and hat, while both rubbers showed the same stains, one in particular having a large spot on it. In one of his vest pockets were found some thirteen dollars, and a further examination of his pants brought to light an old leather wallet, containing a roll of bills which brought the amount up to $72 05. He had two checks, which he said were for trunks that had gone to Portland, and two railroad tickets, one from Bangor to Danville Junction and the other from Portland to Montreal. He also had a plan of the town of Bradley in his inside coat pocket. When asked how he got so much money said that he had been paid off the day before, getting some of it from Mr. Norris and some from Charles Richardson. In reply to another question in this direction he said that he only received $5 or $6 from Mr. Norris. Now as it is known that he received but thirty-five cents from Mr. Richardson in settlement, it leaves quite a balance yet unaccounted for. He was then asked if he had any trouble with Mr. Norris that caused him to leave so suddenly, and he replied that he did not; that he discharged himself on account of some trouble at the boarding house. The trouble referred to was a reprimand for unseemly language at the table in the boarding house, and the idea that a man like him would voluntarily give up a situation for such a thing is absurd. He then stated that he took his trunks from Mr. Robbins' house at about nine o'clock Friday morning and carried them to Jerry Bells' house, where he had more clothing. In the afternoon between three and four o'clock he then removed his trunk across the river to the depot at West Great Works, where he endeavored to get them checked, but the baggage master told him he must wait until morning. He said he did not return to Bradley again that night, but another Frenchman named English, stated to the officers that he left him at the ferry Fridry night and that he (Bouleau) went across. On being questioned as to where he stopped Friday night said that he remained in Great Works and that when he felt chilly he got up and moved about. Did this, he said, to save the expense of stopping at a boarding house, as he wanted to take all his money home with him to Quebec. The watchman who was on duty at W. T. Pearson & Co.'s mill that night informed our reporter that he repeatedly visited the furnace, which is a place where they burn the refuse wood, and that he is positive that no one was near it that night, but himself. When asked if he knew why he was arrested Bouleau replied that he did not. From Deputy Sheriff Dow our reporter learned that when he told Bouleau that he wanted him, the fellow slunk back in the car seat and seemed rather overcome for a moment, but submitted to be handcuffed and taken from the train without asking a question. On his way to Mr. Dow's office he asked what he was wanted for and Mr. Dow replied: "When a man has committed murder he generally knows what he is wanted for." Bouleau said nothing more and did not speak again on his way to this city, only when asked a question. After this examination by the officers, during which it will be seen that the fellow had little regard for the truth, he was taken up to the jail for safe keeping. The clothes which were taken from him have been placed in a trunk, that is now kept under lock and key by Marshal Reed.

NEAR THE FURNACE

Conclusive Evidence.

After matters became quiet about the station house some of the articles taken from Bouleau, were subjected to another examination. Among other things the wallet was taken out and again relieved of its contents, in hopes of finding something by which it could be identified as the property of Mr. Norris. This time the officers were more successful for several little scraps of paper were found, that imparted the desired information. One was a slip cut from a newspaper containing the announcement of the marriage of his son, Mr. Charles Norris, at Saginaw ——— 1873; another was a slip of paper containing a partial family register, and the third was a piece of poetry. Now as Mr. Norris was in the habit of saving such pieces of poetry as pleased his fancy, and Bouleau can neither read nor write, it is not a difficult matter to form an opinion, at least, as to the probable owner of this selection. One of the ten dollar bills in the wallet also had stains that have the appearance of blood. The plan of the town of Bradley, which was found in the prisoner's pocket, is also identified by Mr. Eddy as one that has been in their safe for years.

Later Discoveries at Bradley.

As was stated above it was impossible to open the safe when the murder was first discovered, on account of the missing keys, but in the afternoon Messrs. Cutler & Eddy had a machinist go up and operate on the safe and after a time the door yielded to his efforts. The money till was then taken out and found empty, it having been relieved of about ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS in money. Just $371 34 of this amount belonged to Messrs. Cutler & Eddy and the remainder to the people of Bradley, as Mr. Norris was collector and treasurer and also held some funds belonging to several societies in the town, keeping the money in this safe. This looks as though there might be more than one man implicated in the matter, and we now learn that three other Frenchmen went away on the cars with Bouleau, who may have had a hand in the matter. They were all bound for Montreal.

What the People of Bradley think of Bouleau.

Our reporter had some conversation with several of the citizens of Bradley and found that none of them entertained a very good opinion of Bouleau. They say that he drank hard and gamble a great deal; that he had a surley disposition and has made threats against several people. He was discharged from the mill, and at one time when he made some complaint against one of the men, Mr. Norris informed him that he thought it was difficult for him to get along with any one; as he was always in some trouble. They also say that he never had much money and Mr. Robbins is of the opinion that after he paid his bills, before leaving the place, he did not have more than ten or twelve dollars, which is about the amount he had in his vest pocket when arrested. A man by the name of Stafford, at Oldtown, states that he saw a man in that place, early Saturday morning and is positive it was Bouleau; said he had on white mittens and that he held his hand up to his face as he passed. He thought he had an overcoat on, but he may have been mistaken in this. The mittens were found on his person.

Inquest.

The Coroner's Jury held a secret session Saturday afternoon, examined several witnesses and adjourned until to-day. County Attorney Mace and ex-County Attorney Hutchings were both present.

Additional Particulars.

Yesterday Marshal Reed and Officer Gordon again visited Bradley, for the purpose of ascertaining if any new features of the case had been discovered. They took the wallet, found on the prisoner, along with them, and it was immediately identified by Mrs. Robbins and some others, as the one carried by Mr. Norris. This is certainly most conclusive evidence that Bouleau, the man now in the county jail, is guilty of the murder of Mr. Norris. Bouleau was seen in a barber shop at Oldtown, Friday night, where he had partially bargained for a razor. He appeared to be nervous acting as though he was waiting for some one and finally rushed out of the shop without a word. Some of the people there think he had an accomplice and was on the watch for him in this barber shop, going out when he saw him approach. Since the murder the citizens have been endeavoring to with which the act was committed, but their efforts were unavailing until yesterday afternoon, when it was discovered in the mill pond. After having delivered the fatal blows and removed the body to the place where it was found, the murderer took the axe with him as he went to the office, dropping it into the pond when he crossed the bridge. Coroner Lancaster states that their are blood stains upon it still, and marks of clay where it entered the ground when the gash in the neck was made. It seems that an axe was stolen from the mill last Wednesday and placed under one end of the bridge, where it was seen by some boys, who thought nothing of it until after the murder, when they again looked under the bridge and found that the axe had disappeared. They identify the axe found in the pond, as the same seen by them under the bridge, and by a mark on the handle it is identified as the axe stolen from the mill. This looks as though the

and the plans all carefully arranged. Small sums of money are alway kept in this safe, and the first of each month money enough is sent up from this city to settle with the men, and it was this that the murderer was after. It is supposed that he must have taken some notes and other papers belonging to Mr. Norris, but no trace of them has been found as yet. Coroner Lancaster states that a desperate character in that vicinity is missing, and we see by the Lewiston Journal that in that city Saturday. One of them was a Frenchman, who gave the name of Peter Pomlan. The other two were Irishmen, giving the names of Aleck Cummings and Patrick McDonald. Cummings was very drunk. They stated to the officers there however, that they stopped at the National House in this city, Friday night. The book at this house shows that they arrived here Thursday and remained until Saturday morning.

The Late Mr. Norris.

James J. Norris, the victim of this foul murder, was sixty years old last May and is survived by five sons, all of whom now reside in the west, and some of whom are on their way to this city. He was a man highly respected by all who knew him and has held places of trust ever since he resided at Bradley. The people their all looked upon him as their friend, and were in the habit of calling on him for advice, or to straighten out difficult accounts for them. He also had many friends in this city, and it was supposed that he did not have an enemy in the world. A man of strict integrity and intelligence he inspired the confidence and love of his friends, and his terrible death at the hands of a murderer, has cast a feeling of sadness over the entire community.

Notes.

This is the third horrible murder in Penobscot County within a year, and in each case the victim has been mutilated in a revolting manner with an axe. Some people connect this man Bouleau with the Gowen and Elliot murders, as he was here at the time. There is certainly a similarity in the manner which the were committed, each murder showing a disposition on the part of the perpetrator to brutally cut and pound the victim.

Crime is rapidly increasing in the old State of Maine, and will until our laws are changed so that a man who willfully takes the life of another, shall, at the same time, forfeit his own.

BANGOR, Oct. 15, 1879.

DR. JOSIAH BRIGGS—Dear Sir—I think it is no more than justice to you and a duty to the afflicted public to write a few lines in relation to your Medicated Vapor. I read your advertisement and called to see you with my son, who was very severely afflicted with Catarrh, which had become chronic and exceedingly troublesome. I said to you I had no money to throw away but was willing to pay for anything that had merit and a prospect of a cure. Being pleased with your candid manner in explaining your method of treatment, giving the names of the vegetable extracts used for Medicating, also the composition of your other specifics, which I know possess curative properties. The prescriptions you furnish to your patients free are also good and must be of great value to Consumptives and those troubled with Bronchial affections, as well as for general debility. I procured your Inhaler, Medicating fluid and Catarrh specifics. My son has been using them about three weeks and finds them agreeable and beneficial. He will continue them as directed. We have no doubt of a speedy and radical cure. Please accept thanks for the benefit derived from your valuable specifics.

Very respectfully yours,

The best remedy for bleeding at the nose, as given by Dr. Gleason, is a vigorous motion of the jaws, as if in the act of mastication. In the case of a child, a wad of paper should be placed in its mouth, and the child instructed to chew it hard. It is the motion of the jaws that stops the flow of blood. This remedy is so very simple that many will feel inclined to laugh at it, but it has never been known to fail in a single instance, even in very severe cases.

An "Agricultural Number" of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

In addition to the usual variety in the contents of SCRIBNER, the November issue, contains a half dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers, and others interested in rural life: "The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain," by P. T. Quinn, "Farming in Kansas," by Henry King; "Success with Small Fruits," by E. P. Roe, "Rare Lawn Trees," by Samuel Parsons, Jr., "The Mississippi Jetties," and their effect on the prices of agricultural products, and "How Animals Get Home," by Ernest Ingersoll.

There are two fine portraits of Bayard Taylor—one engraved by Cole, from the best photograph, and the other a reproduction by Juengling, of O'Donovan's bronze bas relief. These portraits accompany a discriminating critique of Taylor, by Stedman. Clarence Cook has a paper on "Morris Moore's Old Masters," with a reproduction, by Cole, of Raphael's "Apollo and Marsyas." There are Poems, Stories and Sketches, "The French Quarter of New York," "Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond," with interesting reminiscences of Daniel Webster; a beautiful story, by Boyesen; an ingenious story, "A Sigh;" the fourth part of "Confidence," by Henry James, Jr., begun in August, and the first part of a new American novel of Creole life, "The Grandissimes," by Geo. W. Cable, of New Orleans, the author of "Old Creole Days," which has created such an excellent impression in the literary world. "The reign of Peter the Great," by Eugene Schuyler, is noted editorially. This splendid series of Illustrated Historical Papers, the greatest work of the sort yet undertaken by any popular magazine, will begin in the January issue, and will continue for two years.

All that enterprise and skill can do will be done to maintain the position of SCRIBNER as the leading popular periodical of America. With the revival of the agricultural and business interests of the country, increased attention will be paid to papers on great public enterprises and interests, already a notable feature of the magazine.

Price, $4.00 a year, 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. Buy it of your bookseller or send the subscription price to the publishers.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Mason Skinner, late of Garland, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that certain real estate, to wit: a parcel of land in said Garland, being a part of lot No. 4, in the first range of lots in said town, is a part of the estate of the deceased which was held by said deceased in a mortgage to him from Alonzo F. Bachelder, recorded in the Penobscot Registry for deeds, Vol. 409, page 70, which mortgage was foreclosed and the foreclosure recorded in same Registry of Foreclosures, Vol. F, page 388; that it will be more for the benefit of the parties in interest that said land should be sold by the said executor and the money distributed as in other cases of personal estate, rather than distributed in the manner provided by law for the partition of real estate.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that you will order said land to be so sold that the money may be so distributed.

THOS. K. HOLT, Executor.
